

Developing Self-Advocacy Skills

This lesson is designed to help students learn to be self-advocates at home, at school, or in the community.

OBJECTIVES

Students will...

1. Learn about the concept of self-advocacy
2. Identify situations in which they may need to advocate for themselves
3. Develop strategies to effectively advocate for themselves

ACTIVITIES

Content Knowledge

Begin by introducing the concept of self-advocacy to students. Ask students to share a time when they had to speak up for themselves or others. This could be at school with other students, at home, on the playground, at recess etc. Allow several students to share examples.

Explain to students that speaking up is a form of advocacy. You can advocate for yourself, others, or for a cause.

Now take some time to explore skills associated with self-advocacy. Ask students how they feel when advocating for themselves, others, or causes they care about. Why might they be hesitant to speak up for themselves or others? Examples of skills may include:

Advocacy Skills	Description
Communication	Expressing thoughts or opinions clearly
Leadership	Guiding or directing others to achieve a set goal
Self-Confidence	Believing in yourself or your abilities
Persistence	Staying the course despite challenges or obstacles
Problem Solving	Understanding issues and being able to find ways to fix them

Split students into small groups. As a group, ask students to role-play a scenario in which someone has to advocate for themselves or others. Ask them to identify whether the main character is advocating for themselves, others, or a cause. Then ask students to act out their scenario in front of the class.

LESSON PLAN

PART 2

Applying Information

Have students log in to MEFA Pathway and navigate to My Goals under the Self Discovery tab. Instruct students to create a new personal goal about how they plan to advocate more for themselves. Have students reflect on the scenarios they reviewed in groups and determine where in their own lives they can advocate for themselves more. Students should list specific strategies they will use to advocate for themselves in the future.

PART 3

Evaluating Information

Ask students to share the self-advocacy goal they created with a partner and evaluate if the strategies listed will help them achieve their goal. Students should go back and edit their goal or strategies if needed.

PART 4

Critical Thinking/Creative Application

Have students log in to MEFA Pathway and create an entry in their My Journal by clicking on the pen icon in the lower right corner reflecting on the following questions:

1. What does it mean to be a self-advocate?
2. Why is it important to speak up for yourself or others?
3. Why might it be hard to speak up for yourself?
4. What did you learn from today's lesson that will help you in the future?
